POSITIVE MENTAL ARTITUDE

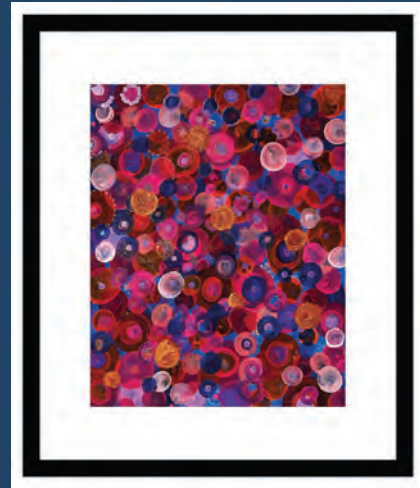

An experimental piece sold to a lovely lady in Matlock

I am excited to introduce you to my art, which embodies "Positive Mental Artitude", a phrase I've coined to reflect the fusion of creativity and optimism that drives my work. Each brushstroke, whether in traditional or digital medium, is placed with the intention of uplifting the spirit and fostering a positive mindset.

For me, creating art is not only a personal journey of peace and relaxation, but a way to channel that same sense of well-being into the lives of others.

A happy customer! Natalie Fleet (Labour MP for Bolsover)

I love to celebrate vibrant colours and intricate details and aspire to transform spaces with bold, lively hues that evoke energy and optimism. For more serene environments nature-inspired tones are my go-to. Art has an undeniable power to influence and I aim to turn everyday spaces into a source of inspiration and positivity.

I would love my art viewers to discover something new each time they engage, encouraging mindfulness but also inviting the observer to slow down and explore. I want my art to provide a continuous source of inspiration, sparking fresh perspectives and mental stimulation.

My work is not just about visual appeal, it's about creating an experience. I hope that every interaction brings a smile and a moment of positivity into your life, just as it does for me in the creation process.

Welcome to my world of "Positive Mental Artitude," where art is a means of encouraging mindfulness every day.

COMING SOON: THE CHILDREN'S GUIDE TO VEGETABLE GARDENING

'The Children's Guide to Vegetable Gardening' is a project close to my heart, as I'm writing and illustrating it. Despite the year's challenges, I'm pleased to say this is on track to be available via Amazon in November.

The guide is designed to inspire both parents and young gardeners to discover the joy and benefits of growing their own vegetables.

Gardening, the great outdoors, and art have always been sources of solace for me (see diggingtheearth.org.uk), and I hope to share my enthusiasm through this guide.

As I continue to work on the illustrations, I'm eager to complete and share it with families who are ready to dig the earth!

Stay tuned for updates on my social pages.
